Rhett Miller is an attorney at Aron & Hennig, LLP offering primarily business and transactional services. Rhett is regularly involved in the representation of several of the firm's longstanding business and medical practice clients. Rhett is an integral part of a collaborative team effort to provide quality and responsive legal services and business solutions, and contributes a unique judicial perspective to the transactional practice based on his prior legal background.

Prior to joining Aron & Hennig, Rhett worked as a summer law clerk for the Honorable Gregory Moeller of the Idaho Seventh Judicial District. The clerkship experience provided Rhett with a valuable opportunity not only to draft judicial decisions and orders, but to gain an understanding of effective advocacy from the court's perspective. Additional experience includes working at the Bonneville County Idaho Prosecuting Attorney's Office, and a Rapid City, South Dakota law firm assisting with a large scale property tax appeal.

Rhett works closely with Brock Faulkner, assisting with business and regulatory matters related to health care law, employment law, business planning, corporate governance and contracts.
